The instrim figures had warned the market that this was not to be Bejam's best year, and relief that the company managed to make any profits at all took the shares np 5p to 155p. The adverse factors were much as adverse factors were much as before: rising (and uncapital-ised) interest charges on store openings, unseasonal freezer food weather, and overheads ontpacing a price inflation rate of just 1 per cent. The sales recovery in evidence for the current year suggests that the prospects are brightening again. Higher turnover at the existing stores, and a net contribution of
